TRIAL IS NEARING CLOSE

Arguments of Counsel Will be Made Tuesday

CLEVELAND — (Associated Press) — Testimony given by Louis Auerbach, Samuel Rembrandt and other government witnesses in the conspiracy trial of Fred A. Shearer, former federal prohibition director for Ohio, Samuel A. Hoskins, prominent Columbus attorney and A. Frank Counts, brother of Fred Counts, was denied by the defendants when they took the witness stand in their own defense.

Fred Counts was the last of the defendants to testify. Federal court adjourned yesterday after he completed his direct testimony. He will take the witness stand for cross-examination when the trial is resumed Monday, today being a holiday.

Attorneys for the government and defense told the court yesterday that taking of testimony will be concluded Monday noon. Arguments are to be made Tuesday.

COUNTS'S TESTIMONY
On the witness stand yesterday Counts denied that he ever accepted any graft while he was in office; that he received a cent from my brother Frank during that time; that he conspired with any one, or

Several Hundred Dollars Due
Lima Firms

Druggists of the city Friday afternoon served an ultimatum on City Manager Bingham to the effect that the city must either pay its antitoxin bills of several hundred dollars or the druggists would refuse to handle any more of the preventive medicine for them.

Bingham said that for some time the druggists have been carrying the antitoxin, being it and keeping it for the city health office, doing it out to the city at cost as it is needed. The druggists pay all the cost of handling, Bingham said, and now they want their money.

Fortunately for the city, he said, the state has finally paid the $1,000 due the city for the state's share of operating the city health department during the first half of 1922.

CHARGES AGAINST ACTOR
DISMISSED BY COURT

LOS ANGELES — A charge of being a dissolute person brought against Gaston Glass, motion picture actor and former protegee of Sarah Bernhardt, was dismissed yesterday in police court, where juries at two trials disagreed.

Immediately after the charges were dismissed, Glass was offered and signed a new contract with a motion picture company to replace one he voluntarily broke when the charges were brought against him.

St. LOUIS — (Associated Press) — Federal prohibition agents and internal revenue authorities investigating the disappearance of $2,000,000 worth of whiskey from the bonded warehouse of the Jack Daniel Distilling Co., and the Parker Distilling Co., are without clues, but say they believe the liquor was stolen by St. Louis bootleggers and sold here.

The disappearance of 893 barrels of whiskey from the Jack Daniel warehouse, disclosed Thursday, was followed last night by the discovery that 869 cases of whiskey had disappeared from the Parker warehouse.

Bloody Finger Marks on Victim
Traced as Clues

LOS ANGELES — (United Press) — A woman drug fiend, crazed by dope, hacked and slashed with scissors at the nude body of Ethel Cass, carbaret girl, until she was dead.

This is the theory advanced to police today by the dancer's former husband, J. W. Cass, who declared that she had been associated with a secret band of women narcotic users shortly before her bloodstained body was found locked in a hotel room with her two year old child. A coroner's jury returned a verdict of homicide after viewing the body.

TRACES OF HANDS

Lieutenant S. H. Craig testified that he had found traces of bloody hands on the woman's flesh in such a position that she could not have made them herself. He also swore that he discovered a towel hanging in the bathroom and that it bore

WASHINGTON — (Associated Press) — Because it is now impossible to get enough German postage stamps on an envelope the German government has given up the use of stamps. Officials of the postoffice department were notified today that the cost of printing the stamps also is greater than their face value and that letters coming from Germany hereafter will bear only a cancellation indicating the necessary postage has been paid.

A letter from Germany now at the lowest unit of weight costs 200,000 marks to deliver in this country.

CLEVELAND — (United Press) — Three injured, nine arrested was the toll of a melee between police and 300 students from Western Reserve University at a 105th-st theater last night.

The students, doing a snake dance up and down Euclid-av, decided to march thru the theater, where 2,000 people were watching a motion picture.

Down one aisle and up another went the youths after pushing aside ushers and doorkeepers. They were met at the door of the theater by a squad of police. Night sticks were brought into play. Somebody inside the theater yelled "fire." Immediately a wild scramble for exits began.

Armed with a search warrant issued in criminal court, detectives in charge of Detective Inspector Kipker Friday afternoon raided the place of Charles P. Jenkins, 640 S. Main-st, seized 16 pints of alleged moonshine, 14 gallons of wine and 80 pint bottles of home brew beer.

Jenkins was arrested on a charge of illegal possession of liquor. Police cited him after his return from work, it was stated.

A secret cache cleverly hidden, discovered by police during the raid, which was the second pulled off in two days, proved to be a large flour bin which opened only sufficiently to reach to the bottom.

COVERED WITH FLOUR

Police say the contraband was secreted under flour in the large receptacle.

Police raided Jenkins' place Thursday afternoon. A tip was given that liquor was stored under the bath room floor. The building was searched, including the location tipped off, but raiders were unable to secure any evidence.

A TYPICAL NEWSPAPER REVIEW OF BLACKSTONE SHOW

What Lansing State Journal Said

THE GREAT BLACKSTONE
Well, sir, he made a real live horse disappear right in front of your eyes, got a whole barnyard full of animals from an empty old card tricks slicker than you have ever seen before and made a new time with a little girl in a red and white gingham dress. He gave the little girl a rabbit and offered to wrap it up for her but she had evidently seen Blackstone before because she turned it into a box of candy. The little girl appeared a little tired and seemed inclined to stick for a finish as Blackstone took the wrapping paper and made the rabbit appear again and gave it back to the little girl to keep!

Another little boy nearly got himself in bad by "giving" Blackstone a watch instead of "loaning" it to him but they finally found it again all tied up in the bottom of about seven trunks each of which was inside of another. The little boy got the watch back.

It was pretty good when Blackstone got a whole flock of East Lansing ducks out of a bucket of water and again when he borrowed a handkerchief from a fat man in the third row and made it dance all around the stage. One of the most magical things he did was to give the audience an idea of what a hachior spends his time thinking about. "The Bachelor's Dream" he called it turned out to be quite an eye full.

But in all seriousness, Blackstone is a real magician. He does not resort to the old time methods but presents his show in a most modern manner and his business like methods serve to disarm suspicion and you are able to sit back and enjoy the show without any feeling of antagonism whatsoever. You are willing to watch him and you have no desire to overtax your brain in a vain effort to solve his mysteries or fathom his necromancy.

Blackstone is a smooth-working gentleman making a special play for the children. He gives them magic that really mystifies and makes them laugh. In fact the Blackstone show probably holds more laughs, either from the tricks or the audience and sometimes both than any single whole evening magician has ever been able to produce.

Blackstone starts off easily, running his show without a single hitch or a single wait. You will be relieved to know that he does not take up half of his running time with coin palming and card manipulation. He does just enough to convince you that he can do all the things you have ever seen done before. Only much better. Content with that, he introduces rapidly his many illusions and the truly big effects which he carries. It is, without a doubt, one of the heaviest shows of its kind on the road today. He has tricks, illusions, magical apparatus and stage props without end and there are no waits four times. His dramatic effect is secured by the natural execution of his tricks and he never depends upon clapping or artificial means to make his impression.

His disappearing horse is just about the greatest illusion ever attempted. It will give you something to think about for some time to come. Sufficient to say that you had better get a firm grip on your false teeth or you are likely to have to borrow the usher's flashlight to find them.

It would be impossible to list all of the startling things which Blackstone does. It would be equally impossible to tell you what all he is going to do—and anyway that is a job for the press agent. You will like to know, however, that Blackstone changes his show every day. You can go every day this week and see something different. There will be special nights for special things and if you go once you will doubtless go back again before the week is over. To sum it all up, Blackstone is just about the best you have ever seen. Don't miss him.

A BIG—CLEAN GENEROUS ENTERTAINMENT FOR ALL THE FAMILY

COUNTY HAS WRONG IDEA, BINGHAM SAYS

RAILWAY DOES NO PAVING

Foundation Only Laid by Street Car Company

NEED FUNDS FOR SURFACING

Conference Will Probably be Called Early Next Week

Following the receipt Saturday morning of a letter from the county commissioners desiring a conference on the Main-street paving project, City Manager Bingham called Secretary Wallace of the county board and asked him to try and arrange a conference because the county commissioners have a wrong idea of the duty of the street railway company.

In their letter the commissioners say the street railway company would have to pave 16 feet leaving only two feet for the county to pave. Bingham told Wallace that under the new city charter the railway company does not have to do any paving, not even between the tracks. The company does have to lay foundations for paving but the city has to do the surfacing.

Bingham suggested to Wallace that he inform the county commissioners of this fact and then ask them to meet the city on the proposition of doing the surfacing on Main-street after the railway company lays the foundation.

Reasons of the commissioners for not joining with the city in paving the thoroughfare are set forth in the letter, which reads:

"Mr. C. A. Bingham, city manager. "DEAR SIR: In regard to Main-street paving, the street car company having 16 feet in the center of Main-street, to pave, and the county not being able to improve more than 18 feet, we do not feel like entering into a contract for one foot on each side of the railroad right-of-way.

County commissioners charge that Manager Bingham brought up the controversy with their board in an effort to represent that the county is refusing to give improvements to Lima.

They assert that he has been aware of their position, and limitations in the matter for months past.

SUIT NOT FEARED
Threats of suit being filed by the city to compel the county to participate in the cost of paving Main-street, did not disturb the commissioners.

They assert that the state wide vote of the people authorizing the 2 mill levy for road purposes, gives them complete authority to spend the money where they choose and when they choose.

All could be spent in one township, commissioners assert, were they inclined to do so. Their policy is to distribute the money over the county in an equitable manner.

Lima has profited as much as any other section they declare. In the past two years, approximately four miles of highway within the city limits and adjacent thereto has been paved by the county funds. Commissioners also point out that they expended more than $5,000 county money on W. North-st., repairs during the past summer.

Boiler Explodes Aboard Steamer in California Port

SAN FRANCISCO — (United Press) — Four men were seriously injured when the boiler of the oil tanker William F. Herrin exploded at Avon, near here, today.

The tanker belonging to the Associated Oil Co., was towed out into Suisun Bay when fire which followed the explosion threatened to touch off 45,000 barrels of distillate which was on board.

Fire tugs from San Francisco were sent to help fight the fire. Members of the crew stayed aboard the ship, fighting the flames which were making rapid headway.

STEVENSON WAS NATURE LOVER

Letter From Famous Author Praises Outdoors

LONDON — (Associated Press) — Robert Louis Stevenson, as a self-styled "miserable, perverse, tremulous, childish devil," is the latest revelation of the great author brought to light thru a letter written in 1875 to Lady Colvin and published for the first time in the "Empire Review."

"I am changed to myself," he writes. "All my sham goodness, I mean all the orderliness, and citizenliness, and sort of respectability that I had laid on, is going away and away down thru wind into everlasting space."

"Despite me if you please, my lady, but mind you I'll do good work in spite of it all, even tho I cannot catch trains (as I cannot), and cannot write letters, and cannot keep engagements, nor generally do anything that a stout, thoughtful citizen should do by nature."

Signing himself "R. L. McDiott Stevenson, of Bedlam," he pens a hymn of praise to nature and to the joy of life he feels when his heart is tuned to her worship.

"You must be very miserable, indeed," he declares. "If you can be miserable in the open air. It stupefies and woos and amuses you, it is like some healthy narcotic, and the visions are visions of green trees, and men ploughing, and larks, and the golden morning clouds breaking and showing us the high blue sky beyond."

"After all, life is very livable under the blue sky. It is in houses mostly that the blue devils do consort. Goodbye; I am as fresh and jolly as the open air."

WOMAN KILLED, FOUR INJURED IN ACCIDENTS

Mrs. Anna Honefanger, 55, was almost instantly killed when struck by an automobile driven by Mrs. Helen Willis yesterday. Coroner T. E. Schaefer has called an inquest to investigate the accident. Stories about the cause of the accident conflict.

Ethel Pendleton, 11 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Pendleton, sustained concussion and possible fracture of the skull when struck by a bicycle, while she was on her way home from school yesterday afternoon. She is not expected to recover.

Mrs. W. R. Huston, her daughter Martha, and Mrs. R. E. Green received cuts and bruises about the face and body in an accident yesterday when the car in which they were riding was struck by another automobile. Their injuries are not serious.

STUNT RIDING IS EASY, TED SAYS

Ted took a little early morning exercise between clouds Saturday. He kept off the country roads, however, with his prancing bronco as he had a hunch the slippery going would not be well for his stunts.

This brand of damp weather is not particularly to his liking but he is of the opinion that when it is the only kind we have, it must be put up with. That has not hindered him from venturing an opinion as to the possibilities for Saturday night and Sunday. After consulting the goosebone he has decided it will be fair Saturday night and Sunday and that we will enjoy a moderate temperature. Ted is a little like a stockbroker, however, as he will not guarantee the prediction.

REINDEER COUNT FOR WEALTH

Laplander Modest Over Number He Owns

NARVIK, Norway — (Associated Press) — Never ask a Laplander how many reindeer he owns, is the initial bit of advice Dr. W. H. Ganit, of Baltimore, has to offer travelers who wander off the beaten path and invade the primitive territory occupied by the Laplanders. This question is equal to asking an American the size of his salary, or the extent of his holdings in stocks and bonds. Riches with the Laps are measured in reindeer. Some few of them, the Henry Fords of the Arctic circle, have as many as 3,000 animals, but they dislike talking about their wealth.

Sweden has protected the Laps against invasion and exempted them from taxation, so they are able to carry on their life in Northern Sweden much as their ancestors did centuries ago. Their villages are extremely primitive and mobile. Families follow their flocks into the mountains in the summer and wander again into the lowlands in the winter.

One elderly Laplander told Dr. Ganit with great pride that he has a son living in America who recently eloped with an extremely wealthy girl and married her. The young Laplander was serving as chauffeur when he and his employer's daughter became enamored of each other and found an accommodating justice of the peace before the angry father caught up with them.

RUHR SITUATION GROWING WORSE

General Uprising in Germany is Believed Near

DIVIDED AS TO RESISTANCE

Faction Favors Complete Surrender to France

BERLIN — (United Press) — The situation in the Ruhr is becoming constantly worse, according to information here today.

Some officials even predict a nationwide outbreak inside of a month unless the Ruhr question is settled, and assert the outbreak may occur even if the Ruhr problem is liquidated in the near future.

Today's situation in Germany resembled that of 1918, when Germany's armies admittedly had fought many months too long.

Conservative Germans feared the Ruhr war also had been overfought by at least four months. They saw the demand of Premier Poincare of France for Germany's "complete and public capitulation" as the only exit for the government, unless it wishes to face a revolution similar to that which succeeded the armistice in 1918.

On every side there are indications the internal situation is plunging toward a final crisis.

Discharged workmen in the factories are threatening to prevent by force their colleagues from working and thereby so injuring the factories that owners would be forced to suspend further allegedly artificial closings.

MANY DISCHARGED
Already thirty per cent of the workers, largely trained metallurgists, have been discharged in Berlin, while clerical forces will be discharged completely beginning October 1.

The same situation applies in varying degrees throughout the nation, while the prospect of increasing unemployment probably will cause outbreaks similar to those of last week in Baden and Upper Silesia.

Efforts to guarantee the workers a stable wage have been futile because of the continued tobogganing of the mark, altho theoretically the workers are obtaining the equivalent or more than their pre-war wage, actually many of them are working for the equivalent of a dollar a week and being told to accept it or quit.

Communists were analyzing the situation to stir up new troubles, preaching violence against the police, overthrow of the government and erection of a soviet like regime.

The whole of the communists power was thrown into a campaign to sabotage the government's efforts to stabilize currency, urging the population against signing the new gold loan. Communists agitators pointed to the sad experiences of those who subscribed to the war time loans, which now are worthless.

The coal shortage is swelling food prices with consequent ferment among the people. It is noticeable that women are taking an active part in the agitation. There are daily scenes in nearly all market places created by women remonstrating against high prices.

KILLS WIFE, SELF

Massillon Husband Shoots Mate, Commits Suicide

MASSILLON — (Associated Press) — Joseph Brownwell, 31, shot and killed his wife, Ethel, 26, with a shotgun in their apartment here shortly before noon today and then committed suicide by shooting himself thru the head with the same weapon. Police say the murder and suicide followed a quarrel between Brownwell and his wife.

Brownwell tried to shoot Patrolman Dan Brady before killing himself and wife but the shotgun failed to go off.

Brady had been called to the apartment by neighbors to stop the quarrel. Brady retired when Brownwell pointed the gun at him, waiting reinforcements. A short time later five shots were heard and when the police entered the apartment Brownwell and his wife were found dead.

KILLED IN FALL

URBANA, Ohio — A fall of six feet from an apple tree proved fatal to Jonathan Darrow, 78, today, the aged man dying within two hours after the accident. Darrow, who lived east here, attempted to step from a ladder to a limb of the tree and lost his balance. He refused to permit a physician to be called but when he lapsed into unconsciousness medical assistance was obtained.

PRISONER PARDONED

COLUMBUS — Harvey Ward, 30, negro prisoner at the penitentiary won the Emancipation Day pardon from Governor A. V. Donahey today. Ward was sentenced from Fairfield, Greene-co, for the murder of Seth Hardin in 1917.

SUICIDE MANIA SWEEPS JAPAN

Idea Reaches Epidemic Stage Thruout Nation

TOKYO — (United Press) — A wave of suicides swept Japan this summer.

The authorities, seriously alarmed at the spread of a morbid cult, are attempting—so far futilely—to check the tendency.

Suicides are always more or less common in Japan. But recently the idea has become almost epidemic. It started not long ago when Arishima, the most popular contemporary Japanese novelist, committed "shinju," or double-suicide, by hanging, with one of the best-known woman editors in the Japanese magazine world.

Each left families and letters explaining that since their love could not result in marriage, they had decided to kill themselves, together, in the old Japanese way.

All Japan became highly excited over the affair. Controversies, justifying and condemning the act, raged everywhere. Some of the most prominent literary and liberalists in Japan, both men and women, defended the lovers and their deed.

To try to get the picture in American terms: Imagine your favorite present-day novelist and one of the most prominent women publicists in America hanging themselves at the novelist's Newport villa. Imagine everybody, from cabinet members to street-car conductors, defending or condemning it. Imagine some of the most famous women feature writers in your favorite newspaper defending the act absolutely. Imagine, on the whole, a much greater volume of defense than condemnation, both from newspapers and from prominent writers.

That's about the way the matter stood—and then all over Japan impressionable youths and maidens began to follow suit.

Little Johnnie Jones and Gertrude, the soda-fountain cashier—again putting it in American terms—reading and talking about the thing night and day decide, since they love each other very much, that they will stand hand in hand beside the "L" track and throw themselves under an express train. They do.

Jimmie Smith and Lucille, the manicurist, for the selfsame reason that they love each other very much, and it's the fashion to do this way, take a trip to Coney, hop overboard from the Iron Boat, and drown. Others take a whirl at rat poison, and some adopt messier forms of passing out.

This wave of morbid psychology, however interesting an analytical study, has assumed most serious proportions in Japan, as the authorities see it. They're now trying to choke off discussion of the entire business.

CENTRAL HI WINS

Central Hi first team was victorious over the second squad by a 13-3 score at College Field, Saturday morning. He is said to be in that city with a carnival.

FIRE MANIAC IS AT LARGE

False Alarms Again Worry Lima Departments

YOUTHS ARE IMPLICATED

Call Is Traced to Unguarded Garage Telephone

Maximum punishment upon conviction of the person responsible for the series of false alarms sent to Central fire headquarters is threatened by Fire Chief Mack at the situation daily grows more serious.

Law implies a maximum punishment of $100 and 60 days' jail sentence and a minimum penalty of not less than $5 and three days' jail sentence.

Number of false alarms received in the past six weeks was increased Friday by false alarms from Prospect and E. Eureka-sts and from Metcalf-st and Kibby-st.

At 4 p. m. Central fire company rushed to Prospect-av and E. Eureka-st. Upon arrival no fire was discovered.

SMALL BOYS

Fire Chief Mack's investigation unearthed information that a small boy, aided by others, opened the alarm box and sent in the call.

All the boys implicated are to be severely criticized and taught the seriousness of their offense.

That an older person is maliciously sending in false alarms discovered Friday night when the department answered a false call at Metcalf-st and E. Kibby-st.

The call was received by telephone. Investigation showed that the person responsible used a party line in calling headquarters. Fire Chief Mack questioned parties using the line and all denied being implicated.

One person in a garage divulged information that he was away from the garage office and it was possible for someone to enter and send in the call. It is believed that the fire maniac took advantage of the sent in the alarm.

MUSSOLINI TAKES OVER CASTLE

Italian Premier Has Fortress For Summer Residence

ROME — (Associated Press) — The Castello di Sangallo, one of the great Colonna family, has become the summer residence of the Fascist Premier, who comes to the office every morning by motor.

The medieval castle was owned by the Colonna family when their estates were confiscated by Alexander VI, in 1501. The Castello di Sangallo eventually came into possession of Lucrezia Borgia's daughter and her second husband, Alfonso of Aragon. Alexander VI added to the castle but all of the property was later returned to the Colonna family.

Once again the Colonna family lost the Castello di Sangallo when it was recovered by the people of the district revolted in their favor. The castle was later sold to Clement VIII for 400,000 ducats and it remained in the possession of the church until 1821 when it was sold for the same price to the Borgese family. It became state property in 1870 and since then has passed to various hands and now is in some need of repair.

Instead of the picturesque old Colonna servitors or Papal Guards, the castle is guarded by the Fascist militia, dressed in black shirt, and extend the Roman salute to Mussolini as he enters and leaves the gates.

DADS AND SONS AT BANQUET

First Boy Scout Affair Greeted by Success

CABLE GIVES AN ADDRESS

Music and Eats Feature Meeting at Elks Home

Good eats, plenty of noise, snappy moving pictures and a nifty talk by Congressman John Cable made the first annual Father and Son banquet of the Lima boys scouts, held Friday night at the Elks home a great success.

Over 100 reservations were made by dads for the banquet and every reservation was taken up before the doors swung open at 6:30 and the fun began. And there was plenty doing all of the time.

Scout songs and scout yells were one of the striking features of the evening and many a dad went back to his own boyhood days as he joined in the evening's fun. And many a dad learned something of the real work of the scouts which he did not know, let alone even suspect.

Singing was led by scout leaders and the big dining room rang with the voices of the merry makers. Then there were moving pictures, one, "America's Heritage," being somewhat historical and the other a comedy donated by the Sigma theatre. Any time boys can see a real movie comedy they are apt to let loose with some fun of their own and they proved this Friday night.

H. E. Simonson, president of the scout council, handled the reins of the affair and kept things running smoothly all the evening. But there was one thing he did not have to direct and that was the eats, dads and sons, their appetites whetted by the snappy air and the big expectation, did ample justice to the viands. There was celery soup, radishes and sweet pickles. Then the piece de resistance, that chicken-a-la-king on toast with mashed potatoes and June peas to help fill up the inner man and inner boy.

Head lettuce with French dressing was tasty and then boyhood's delight, brick ice cream with cake. Coffee for the adults and milk for the boys with plenty of rolls completed the menu.

Scout officials, scouts and dads all pronounced the first annual banquet a great success in every detail. There was not a hitch of any kind in carrying out the program. There was plenty of music besides that furnished by the singing and all told the affair is justly considered, by those attending, a brilliant success.

DIRIGIBLE ZR-1 LEAVES FOR VISIT TO WASHINGTON

LAKEHURST, N. J.—The United States navy dirigible ZR-1 left the naval air station here at 10:35 o'clock (daylight time) to pay an official visit to Washington. The ship was manned by a crew of five officers and 25 enlisted men.

The dirigible soared to an altitude of 4,000 feet and then turned its cigar shaped, nose southwestward for her longest flight at 26 knots an hour.

The ZR-1 upon reaching the capital, will circle the Washington monument and the Lincoln memorial. An air visit to the White House will then be paid the ship dipping its giant bow in salute to the president. After various maneuvers in Washington the airship will fly to the Arlington national cemetery to pay homage to the Unknown Soldier. A wreath will be dropped on the grave.

VICTORY SEEN BY GOV. WALTON

Oklahoma Lawmakers Will Not Meet Wednesday, He Says

OKLAHOMA CITY — (Associated Press) — The net spread by Governor J. C. Walton for alleged participants in mob violence has enmeshed Grand Dragon N. C. Jewett, the highest officer of the Ku Klux Klan in Oklahoma.

Jewett was arrested here last night by the civil authorities in connection with the beating of E. R. Merriman, of Oklahoma City on the night of March 7, 1922. He pleaded not guilty to the formal charge of riot and was released on $1,000 bond.

Merriman was the complainant. Charging that sixty-eight members of the lower house of the Oklahoma legislature are members of the Ku Klux Klan, Governor Walton declared last night that the proposed session of the house of representatives, which has been called to consider impeachment proceedings would not meet next Wednesday, because any such attempt would constitute an unlawful assembly of the Klan under his proclamation of martial law. He has threatened to imprison any member of the legislature who attempts to attend an extraordinary session, declaring that klansmen are the "main agitators" of the movement.

"But the Klan is 'whipped,' the governor exulted at his 'head headquarters' in the executive mansion, where he has been confined for the last week with a severe cold.

One hundred and eighteen cases of mob violence have been considered by the military court at Tulsa since martial law was invoked there on August 14, officers of the court announced. A number of men, several of whom have admitted membership in the Klan, have been arrested as a result of the court's findings.

A joint commission of military and civil authorities ended its first day's session at Shawnee yesterday by ordering the arrest of three men for alleged participation in the flogging of a man there in June, 1922.

WAR IN BALKANS AGAIN THREATENS

Italy and Jugo-Slavia Fail to Reach Agreement

ROW OVER FIUME QUESTION

Whole Situation Viewed With Suspicion by Belgrade

LONDON — (United Press) — Rumors of a possible Balkan war continued here today as the long-drawn-out negotiations between Italy and Jugo-Slavia for settlement of the question of Fiume failed to reach an agreement.

The new Italian director of Fiume, General Giardino, intends to depart for Rome Sunday to make a personal report to Premier Mussolini on the situation, the Fiume correspondent of the Daily Express telegraphed.

The string of decrees pouring from the governor's palace show unmistakably that Rome is determined to remain in Fiume, trade or no trade, thus insuring security of the position of Trieste, the principal port of the Adriatic, the correspondent said.

One decree provides for the constitution of a new government council which will act in a purely advisory capacity under "express regulations."

Jugo-Slavia views the whole situation with bitter suspicion. Meantime Rome dispatches, which probably can be discounted somewhat because of Italian opposition to Jugo-Slavia, continued to announce alarming differences between Jugo-Slavia and Bulgaria.

The Rome newspaper Corriere Italiano learned the Jugo-Slavs are preparing to occupy Sofia, if the Macedonian Comitadj enter Serbia from Bulgaria.

SUSIE SMART'S ADVICE

Dear Miss Smart: I am writing you today asking about her love affair and as mine is worrying me also, I would like to ask your advice. Answer them please the same day, will you?

I have been going with a boy for some time, but now he seems to like the company of one of my girl friends. When she is around he talks more to her than to me. What should I do?

WORRIED. THERE is little you can do, beyond keeping amiable and refusing to be led into any display of jealousy. If it develops that he prefers the company of the other girl, the only thing is to accept the situation with the best grace possible. If you are as pleasing and clever as you can be and he still cares more for your friend, then swallow your sorrow and pretend it doesn't make the least bit of difference to you.

I'm sorry for you, Unhappy and Worried, and hope the black clouds around you will disappear soon.

Dear Miss Smart: I have gone with a young man for nearly a year. Lately, he doesn't come any more and if I call him up he always makes some excuse. I think some of his friends are trying to keep him away from me. How can I win him back?

UNHAPPY. Probably you only imagine that the young man's friends are influencing him. If it is true that he has so little character that he permits others to choose his friends for him, I would say that his friendship had little value. In any case, it would be a mistake for you to try to coax him back. Surely your pride should prevent you from trying to force his attentions.

Dear Miss Smart: I am a girl of 16 and am underweight. What should I eat to gain flesh? What removes sunburn? Thank you. L. G.

Perhaps you are one of those persons who are naturally thin and that there is little you can do to increase your weight. Or, as you suggest, perhaps you are not eating the right things. Foods containing a large proportion of sugar, starch or fat are the ones which are likely to increase your weight. It may be that you do not get enough rest. Try to get 10 hours of sleep each night. The important thing is to be in good health.

A popular formula for sunburn is equal parts of linseed oil and lime water. It takes the sting out of the sunburn immediately.

MYSTERY

PASS a box of candy to a child and he invariably will select the piece wrapped in paper or tinfoil, because the wrapper suggests mystery, uncertainty as to contents.

All children love the uncertain, the mysterious. They thrill as they unwrap packages, crack nuts, open strange doors or take watches apart to see what's inside.

Greatest of all thrills, to a child, is to explore a cave. Artist Satterfield, in the accompanying pen-picture, shows a child at the mouth of a cavern, curious and thrilled to the point of awe.

The picture is symbolic of humanity facing the future.

The child's craving to explore the unknown is an instinct that clings to us all thru life. Curiosity concerning the Mysterious Unknown is back of all progress. Also, it is what makes life interesting. Life would be dull, without progress, if the future were not hidden from us.

SAVING PUBLIC MONEY

AS one contemplates the local situation, with the city near the rocks of financial disaster and facing the necessity of an extra levy; with county officials running close to the shore in expenditures and all state departments cramped for funds for carrying on the affairs of Ohio in keeping with the program, it is indeed refreshing to be able to point to a department here and there that is breasting the waves without the necessity of running up the distress signal.

In a year's time the state uses many thousands of tons of coal at some 25 public institutions. Supplying this necessary fuel devolves on the state purchasing department. Former Treasurer of State John P. Brennan directs the work of that department. Figures showing the cost of coal for Ohio's institutions last year, compared with the totals for this year, show that Brennan has been applying to state business the same care and caution he would naturally be expected to use in his own private affairs.

By getting away from the month-to-month purchase plan and utilizing storage capacity, the state purchaser has been enabled to contract the same amount of fuel used last year at $300,000 less for this year. He deserves no special credit for this work. As a public servant he is expected to exercise business sense and care in the expenditure of the public funds.

It is not intended herein to criticize officials of the city, county or state for a state of affairs that exists in most all departments, but one cannot refrain from pointing to Brennan's achievement as one that should more often have emulation.

MONEY WELL SPENT

AMERICAN women and girls spend more on rouge, face powder and lipsticks than the entire country spends on bathroom equipment. So claims Colonel W. G. Archer, plumbing engineer.

Nevertheless, it is money well spent. Cosmetics are used more as beautifiers-to-attract than to gratify the vanity. Civilization is a theatrical performance—farce comedy disguised as tragedy—and no actor ever is at his best without makeup. Everything natural is good, and it's as natural for women to beautify as for mating birds to warble sweet songs and grow glorious plumage.

PRICES ARE STABILIZED

IN the steel industry, average prices remain unchanged for eight consecutive weeks. Some business experts think this looks as if prices are stabilizing again for a while. If you want to do any comparing, steel prices average about three-fifths higher than in the 13 years before the war.

BRYAN'S WEEKLY BIBLE TALK

Timothy, a Good Minister

(By William Jennings Bryan) The International lessons upon which these Bible Talks are based have presented during the last quarter a wonderful group of New Testament characters—men and women—who, while differing in the individuality, unite in presenting and emphasizing the central themes of Christianity.

Peloubet's Notes suggest that the characters can be compared by the use of adjectives which bring out the trait most prominent in each. For instance, the adjective "brave" is used to describe John the Baptist, "impulsive" to describe Peter, "faithful" to describe Stephen, and "timid" to describe Mark.

Another of the suggestions compares these characters by naming the climax in the life of each—the accepting of his call by Matthew, the anointing of Christ's feet by Mary of Bethany, and Luke's care of Paul in prison.

As my readers are most of them adults and many of them not regular members of any Sunday school, I feel that I can render a larger service by drawing a contrast between these characters and other groups of representative people known to history. The field is so large that only a few comparisons are possible, and they must be made without elaboration.

WHERE ARE THE EGYPTIANS? Take, for instance, the Egyptians. The land of the Nile was at one time the center of the civilization of its day. Its people inhabited a territory of wonderful richness and its men of science were the leaders of their time. Its rulers were not only lived in luxury but were so ambitious for an earthly immortality that, with the conscripted toil of the poor, they built themselves the most costly tombs that have been reared for the dead.

The land was adorned with temples that exhibited a high degree of art and architecture and some of the stones used in the construction of these temples were so enormous that we still wonder how they were transported and put in place.

Upon walls still standing are pictures that give us an idea of the cruelties heartfully practiced in those days. One, for instance, represents a monarch holding in one hand the twisted hair of a number of helpless subjects while the other hand, grasping a whip, is raised as if he were beating them.

What influence do the mightiest of the Egyptians, whether kings or scholars, exert upon human history now as compared with the humble individuals of whom we have been reading?

The men and women whose words and deeds we have been studying had no stately homes or abundant incomes; with rare exception, they were not among the learned of their day and were without political influence. Nearly all were persecuted and a number of them put to death, yet their teachings continue to stir the hearts of millions and their lives are still moulding the lives of Christians today.

GRECE'S GREAT MEN

We are even better acquainted with Grecian times. The students in our schools and colleges study the poems of Homer, the orations of Demosthenes and Aeschines, the wisdom of Socrates, the philosophy of Plato and Aristotle, the military genius of Milvades and Themistocles, Solon and Pericles, the art of Phidias, the annals of Herodotus and Xenophon, and the literature of the dramatists. They have all contributed to posterity and given to their land an imperishable place in history.

But is it little that the mass of mankind today know of the most prominent of these characters.

Demosthenes has taught a few orators how to arrange their arguments and build their climaxes, but not one American in one hundred can quote a sentence that he uttered or has been influenced by a sentiment that he expressed.

A few know that Socrates was forced to drink the hemlock and that his wife acquired a reputation of being disagreeable—though nobody is able to say whether she or her husband is most to blame for her sulky disposition—but the words of Socrates have made but little impress upon the current thought of our time.

Plato has his admirers: scattered here and there are societies formed in his honor where a few of the more learned assemble and discuss his dialogues, but neither his wisdom nor his arguments have reached the rank and file of any land.

The blind poet, read in translations, charms a selected percentage in literary centers, but these do not move to heroic action by what they read.

A FAR GREATER LIGHT And so with all the others; the Greek masters in architecture and in sculpture have their followers and writers of Grecian history and of plays of an occasional writer today, but the light of all these stars nothing compared with the light shed by Peter and Paul and John by Luke and Matthew and Mark.

The influence exerted by all the famous Greeks upon modern life today is negligible when compared with the influence of the New Testament characters about whom we have been reading—four of them fishermen, one of them a tent maker, one a collector of customs, one an ex-slave, and the most fortunate and blessed of them all, the wife of a carpenter.

A comparison between these Bible characters and the conspicuous representatives of Roman life and civilization presents a still more striking contrast, for they lived under the same government and more nearly at the same time.

Rome was mistress of the world; the will of her rulers was law over all Europe and their ruthlessly extended into Asia and Africa. Rome, to had orators, like Cicero and Anthony, historians like Tacitus and Livy, poets like Virgil and Horace, warriors like Caesar and Scipio, statesmen like Augustus and Cato, philosophers like Seneca, and artists also.

Rome had everything except that which Christ gave to the world thru these New Testament characters whom we have recently studied. The glory of Rome departed, the eloquence of Cicero was barely sufficient to keep the "Eternal City" from being burned by Cataline and his co-conspirators. The legions, who shook the earth with their tread crumbled and vanished and the arena in which the gladiators fought with savage beasts has fallen down. Her language, even, is "dead."

The beginners in Latin know that "All Gaul is divided into three parts," but they do not read that the civilization that then existed in one of those parts vitally influences the life of our time. They sing with Virgil of "arms and the man," but any one of a hundred Sunday school songs are better known today and have touched more deeply the springs of human conduct.

The "truth" about which Pilate inquired—and waited not for an answer—has triumphed over all the forces of which Rome was master—it echoed and echoed and echoed until it drowned out all the resounding words embodied in the commands of her generals and in the decrees of her kings.

NOTHING BUT LOVE

Why? Measured by any materialistic test, the friends and disciples of Christ were a feeble folk. They had not the wealth of the rulers of Egypt. They had not the learning of those who walked and taught in the groves of Athens. They had not the weapons of war which were used with such relentless skill by the emperors of Rome. And yet they live in the life of humanity and in the thought of society—We are working out all of the problems of life with the simple lessons taught by the Master and communicated to posterity by His followers.

Carlisle declared that thought was more potent than artillery and that love must be back of thought to give it its power. The characters whose lives and words are revealed in the New Testament are made immortal by the loving thought which they proclaimed.

Christ brought them into vital, living contact with the Heavenly Father and they became the conduits thru which divine truth found an outlet and reached mankind.

The greatest of these truths was that love, not force, is the conquering influence among men, as silent in its operation as the forces of nature and as irresistible. Like the lightning, love can melt any substance, however hard—even the heart which can become harder than any stone; love, like the wind, can sweep away all opposition and demolish all the barriers raised to resist it. Love, like water, is a cleansing flood it can do more—it can remove from guilty hands the blood spots that all ocean waters cannot wash out.

THE GREAT LIFTING POWER Love is the great lifting power of which Christ is the supreme example—"I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto me"—and of which the disciples and their companions were lesser examples.

This love that stretches from the throne of God to the heart of man can reach to the lowest level and reclaim the most sinful if only they repent. It gave to the thief upon the cross promise of Paradise; it has lifted up from the depths of despair souls that were thought to be lost; it has washed them white and filled them with a passion for service.

The undying influence exerted by the heroes and heroines of the New Testament is explained by the love that filled their hearts and gave lustre to their lives—a love whose limits are so far flung that even an enemy cannot travel beyond its bounds. It brought the Saviour from heaven to save men from their sins.

The highest expression of this love is found in the spirit of forgiveness—the most distinguished virtue of the Christian religion. In the teachings of Jesus, as nowhere else, do we find forgiveness enjoin as a fundamental part of a moral code.

While others vainly tried to overcome their antagonists with weapons of violence, Christ's followers disarmed their enemies by forgiving them. "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do," spoken down from the cross amid the agonies of the dying hour, was caught up by Stephen the Martyr, and passed from generation to generation. Papini, in his widely read "Life of Christ," gives a wonderful analysis of this love.

IS IT NOT WORTH WHILE? Charles Jefferson in his book entitled "Fundamentals," pictures the continuous progress of Christianity. He describes Christ as walking on the shores of the Sea of Galilee, gathering about Him a few disciples; then he sees the spirit of Christ traveling around the shores of the Mediterranean and gathering a still larger group of disciples; then around the shores of the Atlantic and then around the shores of the Pacific, until His followers have carried His gospel over all seas and into all lands.

It is not worth while to be numbered among such a goodly company and learn of the Master thru them and with them? Is it not worth while to catch the spirit that led them to treasure even above life itself the priceless truths of which they were ambassadors?

We may well pray for a double portion of their spirit and, having caught that spirit, strive that we, like they, may be "obedient to the heavenly vision."

COULD HARDLY DO HER WORK

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her Eat, Sleep and Feel Better Every Day

Chicago, Ill.—"I was weak and run-down and in such a nervous condition that I could hardly do my work. I was tired all the time, and dizzy, and could not sleep, and had no appetite. I tried different medicines for years, but they did not help me. Then I read in the papers about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it had done for other women and gave it a trial. I began to feel better and could sleep, and consider it a wonderful medicine. I recommend it to my friends and will never be without it."—Mrs. M. OHLIN, 8640 S. Marshfield Ave., Chicago, Illinois.

It is such letters as these that testify to the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. This woman speaks from the fullness of her heart. She describes as correctly as she can her condition, first the symptoms that bothered her the most, and later the disappearance of those symptoms. It is a sincere expression of her gratitude. For nearly fifty years Lydia E. Pinkham's vegetable compound has been so praised by women.

The first and most important essential in a Cash in Advance Subscription Contest for the Contestant is a liberal bankroll, combined with a generous disposition.

There have been few winners in prize contests who have not invested large sums of their own money—in many instances these total “investments” being more than double the value of the prizes “won.” EVERY $100 YOU TURN IN MEANS ABOUT $20 FOR THE PROMOTER.

Most all prizes are NOT won by those who diligently work and strive for new subscriptions, but by those who have the most cash to spend.

The average Contest Company gets entrants to “plunge” regardless of whether or not the contestant has a chance to win one of the prizes. This is done to swell the receipts of the Campaign. OPERATORS WORK ON A COMMISSION BASIS.

Enter And Win A Machine Or Gold Prizes If You Have The Determination To Succeed

It is indeed puzzling to the campaign management why so little progress has been made by some contestants, who have signified their desire to enter and compete for the many fine prizes offered by the Republican-Gazette, by bringing in their nomination blanks and accepting their receipt book. Altho the campaign department has several nominations entered, but few have shown their desire to win by turning in subscriptions.

DROP IN STOCKS IS HALTED

Short Covering Follows Lifting of Selling Pressure

MARKET IS FIRM AT CLOSE

Eastern Railway Shares Featured Among Strongest Groups

NEW YORK—(Associated Press)—Stocks made recovery from recent heaviness in today's brief and quiet session. Food, rubber, steel, equipment and oil shares were lifted to higher ground, several of the leaders gaining a point or more. Subside of recent selling pressure and the failure of bear operators to unavert any acutely weak spots brought about a fair volume of short covering over the week's dealings. Rails were bought on speculative expectations of favorable August earnings statements, the eastern carriers being most in demand. The closing was firm. Sales approximated 300,000 shares.
